Alice Noman Joins Pacifica Real Estate Practice Group

SEATTLE, WA— Pacifica Law Group is pleased to announce that Alice Noman has joined the firm as an associate in its Real Estate Practice Group, where she works with Pacifica clients on commercial real estate transactions including commercial leases, ground leases, and purchase and sale transactions.

A former King County public defender and tenant attorney with the Legal Action Center, Noman brings significant legal and public service experience to Pacifica. As a tenant attorney Noman represented low-income people facing evictions or subsidy terminations, and gained experience with lease negotiations, landlord tenant laws, and working with different entities such as public housing authorities and nonprofits. In her five years as a public defender, she represented hundreds of clients in a variety of cases, including arguing two misdemeanor appeals in King County Superior Court. Immediately prior to joining Pacifica, Noman worked as counsel for a technology startup company.

“We are excited to have Alice on Pacifica’s Real Estate team,” said Practice Group Leader John De Lanoy. “She is an accomplished attorney whose significant experience and public service mindset make her a great asset to our clients and to the firm.”

Noman earned her J.D. from Seattle University School of Law, where she received a Presidential Law Scholarship and was Content Development Editor for the Seattle Journal of Social Justice. During law school, Noman served through the United Nations as a clerk in the Trial Chambers of the International Criminal Tribunal for the former Yugoslavia. Noman earned her B.A. in Law, Societies, and Justice from the University of Washington.
